Spring Catalogue

© 2020 MARVEL

The best of cinema:
Discover our FANTastic merch from your heroes!

> Let's go!

Finally spring is here. Whether you're jogging, cleaning your house or clearing out your wardrobe so you can shop for your new spring clothes, when it gets warmer outside and nature comes to life, the motivation to roll up your sleeves and get started comes naturally.

I am particularly pleased that 2020 is the year of girl power in the cinema. With "Birds of Prey", "Mulan", "Black Widow" and "Wonder Woman" coming out, there are dozens of films about strong women. Apart from these blockbusters, there will also be various biopics, dramas and action films that put strong female characters in the foreground.

There are some great new products in our range to go with this theme. In cooperation with Disney, we have created a fantastic Disney Princess Collection. In addition to Disney, we're also starting spring with two new Harry Potter collections.

When it comes to music, Powerwolf fans will also get their money's worth this year. For the 15th anniversary of the band, there will be a 30-song best-of album with lots of live tracks and new recordings of old classics.

Of course there isn't enough space in the catalogue to cover everything we have to offer, so check out our online shop, where you will find a huge selection of items in sizes from XS to 7XL.

PS: Pay attention to our mix and match tips, there are plenty of suggestions for the coolest combo outfits across all our categories!

Enjoy browsing!

EASTER AT EMP

PUT A SPRING IN YOUR STEP!

It's almost Easter, and so we've put together all sorts of cool promotions for you. This year, our EMP Easter Bunny will bring all the coolest stuff straight to your house, to ensure your Easter celebrations will be a total success. Not to mention we've also got a practical gift finder for you.

Once again we are organising the ever-popular EMP egg hunt! The EMP Easter Bunny has hidden a few discount codes around our shop for you. What do you have to do to find them? Easy peasy! Eat a few carrots to sharpen your eyes, stretch your fingers, and get ready to browse our range. You can find the EMP eggs hidden on our product pages, along with the associated discount code. So, have fun with our Easter promotions and happy shopping on emp.co.uk!

BEHIND THE EASTER EGGS

Have you ever wondered how we create an Easter campaign like the one above? It's a long way from the first idea to the final design:

As we are a company that operates across Europe, of course we keep our eyes on what's going on in other countries. While children in Sweden dress up as Easter witches and in Finland they make a lot of noise to scare away the winter, people in Poland splash water on each other. So, since Easter is celebrated differently everywhere, we've decided to do our own thing and reinterpret Easter with our cheeky EMP Easter bunny. He is on a secret mission to delight people with really cool merch.

After the brainstorming is finished, in the deepest winter, we write the texts, plan, put together outfits and organise a (rather cold) photo shoot. The pictures are then selected, post-processed, retouched and prepared for later use.

So, eat a few carrots to sharpen your eyes, stretch your fingers and get ready to browse our range.

We wish you a Happy Easter and a full basket!

Parkway Drive

Anthems of the outsiders

At the end of January, Parkway Drive delighted fans with the bombastic cinema documentary "Viva The Underdogs". Now the Australian metalcore heroes are releasing their live album of the same name, which frontman Winston McCall and the rest of the band recorded at last year's Wacken Open Air. As a special thank you, the quintet also included three exclusive bonus songs sung in German!

Part of metal history

Winston, on "Viva the Underdogs" you authentically captured your incredible live energy. How did it feel to play in front of almost a hundred thousand euphoric metalheads? "It was the best show we ever did! Wacken Open Air is simply the largest, most important and best metal festival in the world. When we first came to Europe many years ago and saw a poster with the line-up at the time, we could hardly believe that such a top-class dream billing would even be possible. We are incredibly proud to be part of this great metal heritage today." Was there a moment during the show that you particularly remember? "We had to constantly pinch ourselves to make sure we weren't dreaming. Especially at festivals, you're always waiting for something to go wrong. That it starts to rain just before the show, there are technical problems and a thousand other things. But everything was perfect at Wacken! After the first few minutes, it got better and better from song to song. At some point even the mother of our bass player Jia came on stage and jumped into the crowd to crowdsurf. The flow of energy between the band and the audience was absolutely amazing. You can hear that on the record."

Metal is all about the community

With "Viva the underdogs" you also found a fairly fitting album title that reflects the connection between you and your fans. "Metal is about the community, the cohesion and the feeling of belonging. Although this scene is so frank, it is often still laughed at as a marginalised group and metal fans are labelled as outsiders. Even when we were young, we were looked at as oddities and we still feel at home in this underdog community. "With the tracks "Stranglehold", "The Void" and "Schattenboxen (feat. Casper)" you even have three German-language songs in the program! "We love Germany! The German fans have welcomed us from the start and sing along with every single song at concerts. So we decided to return this enthusiasm and say thank you with three pieces in German. We are particularly pleased to have our friend Casper on board with 'Schattenboxen'." In April you can be seen on a big arena tour through Germany. What can we expect? Will you play the German songs too? "That's the plan. Before that, I have to practice a lot. Of course, we try to outdo each other with the tour and offer our fans a gigantic show that they won't forget. I'm sure we'll blow people away this time too!"

POWERWOLF

A new decade begins

Things have never been quiet for Powerwolf, and 2020 promises to be another big year in their history. They start the new decade with a tour with Amon Amarth through South America, followed by releasing their own whiskey for Easter and the their special double album "Best of the blessed", flanked by summer festival appearances at Rock am Ring / im Park, Graspop, Download, Rock Harz and many more.

"We have a lot planned for 2020," says Matthew Greywolf, who has entered the new decade full of anticipation and drive. The jam-packed "Best of the blessed" double CD will be released on June 5 and will contain a total of 30 tracks, including seven new recordings, nine classics and 14 live tracks. Especially the new recordings of older hits like "We drink your blood", "Saturday Satan" or "In blood we trust" are reason enough to get excited. "Last year the wolf turned 15 and we came up with the idea of re-recording one or two classics that we have modified a little bit live over the years. It was interesting to dive back into the details of the song after so many years and that brought back a lot of memories of how the original songs came about."

The agony of choice

It still seems like yesterday when the newly founded Powerwolf released their debut "Return in bloodred" in 2005 and immediately fascinated audiences with their sacred metal. "Kiss of the Cobra King" was one of their hits on the debut album. "I remember the moment we played the song on a big stage for the first time, as an opener at Summer Breeze 2005. We all got goose bumps when people actually sang the chorus in front of the stage early in the morning," the guitarist recalls nostalgically. The double-decker is completed by neck breakers such as "Amen & attack", "Kreuzfeuer", "Army of the night" and the goosebump-inducing ballad "Where the wild wolves have gone". According to Matthew, the selection was an internal struggle: "Everyone has their own personal favourites and it is not easy to find a consensus, but in the end there were so many songs that could not be missed, so the selection was suitable for everyone."

Perfection and dedication

Matthew Greywolf is a believer. Whether in the past or the present in which Powerwolf has already started songwriting for their eighth studio album: He is always there with all his heart and full of dedication. It was all the more important to him to perfect the new recordings. "Especially 'Werewolves of Armenia' is a track that is always fun and has been in our set for a long time. On 'Bible of the beast', however, he got a little too static, probably because he came to the album at the last minute. That's why I particularly like the newly recorded version on 'Best of the blessed', because it captures the energy that the song has live much better."

GREEN DAY

You've gotta get on with your bandmates

"Father of all ..." is the 13th album by punk rock superstars Green Day. In the interview, bass player Mike Dirnt explains why the band is still together, why the disc sounds different from its predecessors and yet is still typical for the Californians.

Close friends

At the time of the publication of "Father of all ..." exactly 30 years have passed since the Californians debuted with "39/Smooth" in 1990. In the meantime, countless new bands have been founded and dissolved, but Green Day are still relevant and hugely successful. "Crazy," says Mike happily. "Lately we have been asked by fans, but also by our younger support acts, what is the secret of a long career. We grin at each other and always tell them the same thing: that when they start a band, they should do it with people they are good friends with. Even if the big breakthrough did not happen, you were guaranteed to have a damn good time. I'm sure we only stayed together for so long because we were good friends before Green Day."

Short and dynamic

As such, there are heated discussions, but of course there are no real arguments when you spend a whole year tinkering with a new LP. "The sessions were incredibly creative," reports the bassist. "Billie literally overflowed with ideas for riffs and lyrics, which we then worked out together." The result is ten tracks that only add up to 26 minutes - the perfect length for an LP, according to Mike: "When was the last time that you listened to the whole of 'The Wall'?" he laughs. "I've always loved short, dynamic discs - in the car, at home or at a party. We recorded a few more songs; seven, to be exact. We will publish them somehow, sometime. But the record as it is now has a grandiose flow that we absolutely wanted to preserve. If it is too short for you, just press the repeat button."

Punk instead of junk

The most striking aspect of "Father of all ..." is certainly not that one catchy tune follows the next. Green Day fans have long since learned to expect things like that from the trio. Rather, it's the enormously wide range of styles that Billie Joe Armstrong, Tre Cool and Mike Dirnt have served up. "We love trying things out and finding new ways to present ourselves," the latter enthuses. "We all listen to a lot of different stuff. At the time of production, Billie was doing a lot of sixties R&B, Tre was listening to classic rock 'n' roll while I was on a '70s glam trip. The whole thing also sounds super current. I like a lot of sounds that I currently hear on pop radio. Unfortunately, the associated songs are mostly kind of junk. We've turned all these influences into full-blown punk tracks and had a lot of fun doing it. I hope you can hear that." Don't worry, Mike. We can hear it!

Situated in Dinkelsbuehl, Bavaria SUMMER BREEZE OPEN AIR is the biggest metal festival in the south and the second largest in entire Germany and while the airfield of the local Aeroclub turns into a fierce battlefield for four entire days, the historic old town of Dinkelsbuehl offers international guests a true Bavarian experience. Founded in 1997 the festival had been held in Abtsgmuend until 2006, when the location was moved to Dinkelsbuehl due to the constantly growing audience. Looking back on over 20 years of SUMMER BREEZE Open Air, the promoters are grateful for a very loyal fanbase and every new guest attending the festival in the future. From bands that are deeply rooted in the underground to genre representatives with the highest standing in the worldwide metal scene, SUMMER BREEZE Open Air attaches great importance to present a diversified billing each year. In 2020 fans can look forward to bands like:

MARVEL

Marvel launches phase 4

2020 will be an eventful year for Marvel fans. After the overwhelming finale of the Avengers Saga last year and the completion of the 3rd phase of the Marvel Cinematic Universe with "Spider-Man: Far From Home", the 4th phase will now start on April 30th with "Black Widow".

Although we have watched Natasha Romanoff (Scarlett Johansson) on the big screen for 10 years now, we actually don't know much about her. However, we know from the previous movies that she was trained by the KGB as a hitman and spy long before she became a member of the Avengers. The new film from Marvel Studios is supposed to shed light on the background story of Natasha Romanoff.

It's going to be insane!

"The Falcon and the Winter Soldier" series has already been announced for fall, which will be shown exclusively on Disney+, and on November 5th Marvel Studios will present "Eternals" to us, a completely new line-up of superheroes for most movie fans. A race of extraterrestrial superhumans who possess incredible powers and are more or less immortal due to their long lifespan and various resistances. A familiar, though unusual example of this species is Thanos, whose purple skin, the huge grooves in his skull and his extremist world view do not correspond to the normal image of the Eternals.

And that's not all!

In addition to the films from Marvel Studios, there will be three more films this year that will be released under Marvel licenses. This week's first one is "The New Mutants" by 20th Century Fox. The spin-off of the X-Men series will be a real treat for horror movie fans with its dark atmosphere, suspense and scary elements.

On 30 July Sony will launch "Morbius", a Spider-Man spin-off in which biochemist Dr. Morbius (Jared Leto), who suffers from a rare blood disease, accidentally infects himself with vampirism. After that, "Venom 2", another Spider-Man spin-off will be released this year. In this movie Eddie Brock (Tom Hardy) meets the murderous symbiote Carnage. So it definitely won't be boring in 2020!

MAGICAL NEW HARRY POTTER COLLECTIONS

Hogwarts Collection

If you can't get enough of Harry Potter, now you've got double the reasons to celebrate. We've developed not one but two new collections for you, which you can find in our range right away.

Our new Hogwarts Collection is both sporty and comfy. We created these designs for anyone who likes to dress comfortably to chill out at home or play sports, while still showing off their favourite fandom.

The Hogwarts emblem and the golden snitch are shown in a fashionable colour-blocking style on this sporty collection. We've paid attention to ensuring that every item in the range has a comfortable cut, with fabrics that feel pleasant against the skin. For example, the trousers are made from an elasticated jersey fabric. And for anyone who actually wants to wear their jogging bottoms out jogging, we've also got an extra-light outdoor jacket that will allow you to get out there despite rain or wind.

Potions Collection

For our second Harry Potter collection we've drawn inspiration from Professor Snape's potions classes. Our Potions Collection was developed especially for the warm summer months. Cute skirts and relaxed shorts are decorated with cool all-over patterns. To go with them, we've got a few really chic tops with amazing details to perfect your look. You can find even more choice of Harry Potter merch at emp.co.uk/harrypotter.

We hope you enjoy your new wardrobe!

FASHION FOR HER

The Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS) is recognised as a world-leading standard for the production of textiles from organically-cultivated natural fibres. At a high level, it defines technical, environmental requirements along the entire textile production chain and also promotes adherence to social criteria. Clothes that make a difference

We're making changes! As already mentioned in the last catalogue, we are currently doing everything possible to improve our range to support a better, fairer and more sustainable world. On the one hand, we are expanding cooperation with non-profit organizations, whilst on the other hand, we are working on integrating the topics of sustainability, environmental protection, upcycling and fair trade step by step into parts of our range.

> What do we want to achieve?

Our goal is to be able to offer you more sustainable products in the coming year. To do that, we have to meet many requirements. This topic is very important to us, so we are happy to take on this effort to be able to offer you products that are officially certified organic.

Organic certification guarantees the ecological cultivation of the fibre. Organic cotton is produced and harvested according to the guidelines of organic farming. The use of genetically modified seeds is prohibited, as is the use of chemical pesticides and fertilizers. This is good for the environment and also good for you.

Did you know,
loads of our own-brand clothing is made from organic cotton?

> How are pests avoided?

To maintain and improve natural soil fertility, manure and compost are used. In order to keep insects away, the fields are mixed with other plants to keep pests away. In West Africa, for example, sunflowers are planted around the cotton fields. These attract pests such as the cotton capsule beetle and thus prevent infestation of the cotton plants. In addition, the farmers practice crop rotation. This means that cotton is grown in alternation with other crops such as tomatoes or peppers. This also serves to care for the soil and prevents the spread of pests and diseases. A lot of work is required!

> Because our environment is important!

By buying organic certified products, you influence the demand for organic cotton and can contribute to a more sustainable and fairer world. And a higher demand means that more and more fashion providers are putting emphasis on organic cotton. As a result, cotton farmers are increasingly switching to this less harmful method. And so less water, less pesticides and chemical fertilizers are used, which benefits the environment.

To make it easier for you to recognise our organic products in the future, we will clearly label the certified products in our shop. Every purchase of organic products is a sign for us that we are on the right path and inspires us to continue to expand this selection.

Live Loud!

Organic certification guarantees the ecological cultivation of the fibre. Organic cotton is produced and harvested according to the guidelines of organic farming. The use of genetically modified seeds is prohibited. In contrast to conventional cotton cultivation, the use of chemical pesticides and fertilisers is prohibited. To maintain and improve natural soil fertility, manure and compost are used. To keep insects away, other plants are mixed into the fields to draw away any pests. For example, sunflowers are planted around the cotton fields in West Africa. These attract pests such as the cotton capsule beetle and thus prevent infestation of the cotton plants. In addition, the farmers practice crop rotation. This means that cotton is grown in alternation with other crops such as tomatoes or peppers, etc. This also serves to care for the soil and prevents the spread of pests and diseases.
